Brian completed his benefit auctioneer training at Christie’s Auction House in 2011. Since then, he has helped raise millions for non-profits on stages in NYC, LA, and Puerto Rico at events ranging in size from 100 to 1,500 guests. With his innate abilities to command a stage and connect with the audience, while encouraging generous giving, he has helped countless organizations with their fundraising to continue their work making our world a better place.

“Brian was passionate and energetic. He infused heart in the auction, which our guests loved, sparking them to give generously and beyond what we hoped.”

-Scotty Kennedy, Executive Director Solving Kids Cancer

“Brian worked closely with us to architect the auction experience for over 1,200 guests. The result exceeded our expectations both in engagement of the room and fundraising.”

-Tim Wyant, Executive Director Squash and Education Alliance

Brian focuses on these three goals when working with you:

Exceed your fundraising target by maximizing the money in the room.

Deliver an engaging experience that encourages your guests to give.

Partner with you to architect an authentic, strategic, and impactful auction.
